THE WILLYS-KNIGHT

A man named Knight had a vision one day,
That in order to function in the proper way—
A motor must be built in which carbon would not stay,
So he made a deviation from the old established way.

He built a sleeve-valve motor which had ne'er before been done;
Mechanics laughed and said they knew the motor would not run;
They gathered 'round that they might see and all enjoy the fun;
The laughter ceased; the motor turned, and then began to hum.

They tried it out with others to see what it had in store,
With valve-in-head and L-head, all the rest and then some more;
The Knight developed power like they'd never seen before,
Although it was more simple and it had a smaller bore.

They kept a set of records for the work of each machine,
Knight's engine pulled a larger load and used less gasoline;
It purred along, each said it was the best he'd ever seen,
When carbon formed, the others lagged, the Knight was running clean.

That it was an innovation, all the men there did agree,
And because it was so simple, they said they could hardly see
Where it got its wealth of power, just the same as you and me,
For unless one saw it pulling, he would say it could not be.

To illustrate the principle, take two short lengths of pipe,
Of sizes such that one will fit into the other tight;
Drill a hole in each of them through which you will see the light,
Just slip one pipe a trifle, and the hole is out of sight.

Now, in Knight's valveless engine, where the workmanship is fine,
The holes are in two sleeves like these, and when they get in line,
Gas comes into the cylinders, and at the proper time
The sleeves move up and close the hole; the pistons start to climb.

The spark plugs in the center of the conical shaped top Throw the strength of the explosion so that when the pistons drop,
The force is so tremendous, one thinks it will never stop;
There are no valves to clatter and no springs to make it pop.

Knight's engine sold in Europe, and it soon had won the name
That ever since has held its own without a single stain;
John Willys heard the news of it, to Mr. Knight he came:
To learn just what the reason was for this unusual fame.

He hid himself to England where the Knights were then in use,
And tried them out so thoroughly, and gave them such abuse
It seemed almost a miracle their power did not reduce,
But always kept increasing on a small amount of juice.

He built them in America; 'twas several years ago,
And Willys had no need to ask for anyone to show
Him how to make the other parts with which to make it go,
Because he'd built them all for years, until he'd come to know.

In the hearts of all the world, Willys-Knight has won a place
Because it steers so nicely, and when you're in need of haste
It glides away so smoothly that the most exacting taste
Will revel in its excellence and its unequalled grace.

Willys-Knight keeps in the lead, and you will ever see,
That a man who has a love for class and for economy
Will care to drive no other for dependability, Because one test will satisfy, no matter who it be.

Now, in this explanation we have tried to throw the light
On the points about a motor car which you should keep in sight;
So if you want to have a car that's absolutely right,
You should never buy another 'till you drive a Willys-Knight.

JUNE 8.

Does marriage give man the right—to chain a woman's body as well as her soul?
—to make his wife a virtual slave to his wishes?
—to use physical violence to gain his ends?

Here is a thrilling story of a youth who came between a brute husband and his girl wife and smashed the chains that imprisoned her in a lonely cabin of a lawless country.

A THRILL STORY! A LOVE STORY! A GREAT PICTURE! Goldwyn Presents the Chicago Daily News' $30,000 prize story. "BROKEN CHAINS." An Allen Holubar Production with Colleen Moore as the star.

The pleasure is all yours!

ANOTHER CHAPTER.

The statement from "The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Hondo Klan No. 301, Realm of Texas, which was printed in these columns last week, was handed in too near the hour for going to press for an analysis at the time without delaying its publication, which we did not wish to cause.

The statement disclaims seeking any controversy; neither do we wish to appear in the attitude of desiring or attempting to force one.

However, this is something for the members of Klan No. 301 to think about.

If it is really desired to "inform", "several prominent citizens of Hondo and this community" would have been more enlightened could your statements have been made over the official signatures of your responsible officers.

Likewise, a more specific statement of what "patriotic, fraternal and benevolent" purposes you are designed to serve in the community would lead to a clearer if not a more favorable understanding.

We hope and believe the publication of your statement has been helpful to the community, but the help it might have been in restoring that confidence so much needed at this time was largely destroyed by the secrecy thrown around the identity of those responsible for your official acts.

This paper invites you to use it as a medium for taking the public into your confidence—we do not solicit any other kind of statements—and hopes the time may not be long delayed when you will so use it.

In the mean time, you must realize that it is true as holy writ that, regardless of whatever you may know your intentions to be, as you measure to the public secrecy, mysteriousness and mistrust so will there be measured back to you suspicion, distrust and hatred.

If a good thing, we repeat, get out in the open.

TICK ERADICATION IN MEDINA COUNTY.

Inspector Murray informs us that the inspectors are only finding ticks on a few premises in Medina County. Some of the parties on these tick infested premises are not making an earnest effort to dip all of their cattle and consequently are not getting rid of the ticks.

Mr. Murray also informs us that the Live Stock Sanitary Commission has ordered him to prosecute these parties who are not using due diligence in getting their cattle and horses to the vats on dipping day.

The first case was filed this week against F. P. Seekatz of Rio Medina and there will be others to follow.

WHERE TO BUY STAMPS AND WHY.

"What possible difference can it make if postage stamps are purchased at an office other than the one from which the letters or parcels are mailed—the money all goes to the Government."

That is the question and the natural one, together with the suggested answer that is raised by business men when approached by a local postmaster with a request that he be allowed to furnish them with stamps necessary to cover mailings from his office.

It makes a lot of difference, and the Post Office Department stands ready to lend its moral support to the postmaster in his efforts to induce heavy mailers to purchase stamps at the point of dispatch.

In fact, it is the one obstacle in the way of complete success of the present method of rating postmasters of the first, second, and third class, and for fixing their salaries.

The method is fixed by law and can not be changed or modified by the department. Not only are the salaries of postmasters determined by the amount of revenue produced by their offices, but the allowance for clerk hire, as well as other expenses, is based upon receipts and not on the quantity of work performed.

The system operates as a check and balance preventing the employment of unnecessary help when a particular office is on the decline and, on the other hand, automatically disclosing the need for additional clerks and arriers when increased business produces increased revenue.

This flexibility renders the system of great value in preventing an excess of employees and in maintaining the service machinery at a standard of efficiency commensurate with requirements for handling the mails.
It is deemed far better than any previous scheme for rating postmasters and fixing allowances for clerk hire, and since its operation no plan considered superior has been suggested.

There are, however, a considerable number of firms, principally large corporations maintaining branch offices in various cities, who make a practice of purchasing stamps in large quantities at the headquarters office and doling them out to their local branches on requisition.

When a large quantity of this mail is dumped into the local post office, especially one of the smaller offices, the result is a demoralization of greater or less extent, depending upon the quantity of the mail.

It is inequitable to the postmaster, whose salary might have been increased had the stamps been purchased at his office, and it is unfair to the clerks and other employees who must handle the additional mail without its being credited toward increased allowance for clerk hire.

But, above all, it is unfair to the regular patrons of the office whose mail, of necessity, must be delayed by an influx of entirely unexpected matter, unless the postmaster or the clerks, actuated by wholly human emotions, hold up the offending foreign mail until the other mail has been dispatched.

The department has no power to compel the purchase of stamps at the point of dispatch, but usually a firm is willing to cooperate rather than incur the ill will of postal clerks, especially when the importance of maintaining the system of rating postmasters and determining clerk hire allowance is explained to them.

Some firms, however, have been reluctant to make the change. They advance the argument that it is preferable to purchase stamps at the main office so that they may be perforated with the firms initials to render them less marketable by dishonest employees.

The department answers this argument by pointing out that other firms have solved the problem by instructing their agents or dealers, when making their regular remittances to the home office, to render a certain proportion of the amount in postage stamps. The stamps then are perforated and returned to the branch office for use on the company's mail.

So important does the department consider the maintenance of its rating system, and so concerned is it that its employees be not required to "work for nothing," that frequently representatives are sent to interview firms not conversant with the necessity for the request, with a view to inducing them to make a change in their method of purchasing stamps.
Not a single firm has yet declined to cooperate after having had the department's problem explained to them.

The department feels justified in asking this cooperation, particularly in view of the fact that postage rates have not been increased for years.

WITH THE DRILLERS.

The most encouraging report comes from the Ina Oil Company's well on George Schmidt ranch this week. Frank Brown sent word to the effect that he was preparing to set perforated casing in the well and that a test would be made. Mr. Brown estimates that the production of the well would be between 10 and 15 barrels daily, it being necessary to insert the perforated casing and wash out the well before an accurate production of the well could be arrived at. This well is now down 900 feet, and even if it produces half the amount estimated by Mr. Brown it exceeds anything found in the Barnett field at the depth. The production of oil men will be focused on this well for awhile and if it comes up to what is claimed for it, it will be an active development work in the section on a large scale in the near future. Agents are active and it is believed that before the snow flies the developed oil field will be another source of wealth added to one of the most prosperous counties of Texas.

News from the Francisco field is to the effect that the Jungman well, on the pump, has exhausted its capacity and that a 140,000 barrel reservoir is now being installed. This well is the only producer, as far as we are informed, in the section. It and the Ina Oil Company well are developing different parts of the county, being several miles apart, and indicate a large territory underlain by oil sand.

The oil outlook is exceedingly bright, and it seems the industry of the county has been exerted in trying to prove the existence of a big field in this section is soon to be tried.

OFF ON LONG AUTO TRIP.

While the majority of the denizens of Hondo were setting themselves comfortably for another wink of sleep before arising, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith and boys, Melva, Jimmie, and Burley, C. J. Monkhouse and Prof. J. D. Howell were headed westward on their auto trip to New Mexico and Colorado. The party planned their first stop at Devil's River where their plans placed them for the noon-day meal. Beyond there so far as we know, no place was called for in their daily schedule, their plans being to stop wherever night or noon found them.

Their first resting place will be Becker, New Mexico, where they will visit and recuperate at the home of Dr. Smith's sister, Mrs. Becker, well known to a large number of the people of Hondo, she having visited here frequently. On leaving there they will head for Colorado. Colorado Springs being included in their itinerary.

From Colorado Springs they will turn their faces homeward, coming back through the Panhandle of Texas. Dr. Smith plans to be back in about three weeks, but mutiny was brewing in the party before the start was made. Monkhouse and Howell said they would not be back on Dr. Smith's schedule unless he was a better man than they were combined, which we interpret to mean that according to the schedule mapped out by them the expiration of three weeks would still find them loitering in the shadows of the Rocky Mountains.

While we all envy them the great pleasure of the trip, we are nevertheless generous enough to wish them the time of their lives.

ALUMNI ENTERTAINMENT.

From the Huajillo Leaf.

On Thursday evening, May 25, the Seniors and Alumni were assembled at the home of Mrs. H. J. Meyer, where they were entertained, first, by the best talent of Hondo in musical selections and readings.

After this enjoyable program was over, the initiation of the Seniors took place, in which proceeding everyone (?) was interested.

A game of chats was begun among the guests, after the refreshments—ice cream and cakes—were served; and at the end of this the crowd began to disperse at about eleven-thirty.

"THE FLYING SQUADRON."

From the Huajillo Leaf.

The Seniors and Juniors of '23 assembled at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Meyer on the evening of May 11. The first thing to take place was a little initiation program, which made full-fledged Seniors out of the Juniors. While everyone ran around with green and white dunce caps on, all the old fashioned games the dignified Seniors could think of were played. We are almost tempted to believe that the punch, which was served all during the course of the evening, was spiked, such a great number of the guests became so gay.

After the refreshments of ice cream in the form of white carnations, and angel food cake were served, arguments were started, and possibly had not stopped when the members of the crowd reached their homes at about midnight.

CAUGHT.

First Flapper—"I almost had a fraternity pin last night."

Second Flapper—"And did you refuse him?"

First Flapper—"Who said I refused anybody? He caught me taking it."

—Froth.

DECIDED TOO SOON.

"Was papa the first man who ever proposed to you, mama?"

"Yes, but why do you ask?"

"I was just thinking that you might have done better if you had shopped around a little more."

IS THIS WOMAN YOU?

By May Ireland, Barwise Parent-Teacher Association, Wichita Falls.

Once upon a time there was a woman, or so I have heard.

Who would go to the Mothers' Club and never say a word.

The president would ask for the opinion of each one.

But not a word would she say until she got home.

Then she would object to every plan. Would say so to every child, woman or man.

Would say, "That club's run by just two or three!"

Now I want to ask you, how else could it be.

When the rest would sit there with their mouths shut tight.

Not a word could you get out of them if you tried all night?

Suppose we run our club different, won't you?

Let everyone do the best she can do; Each one take a part, her opinion freely give.

And our club will prosper as sure as you live.

Suppose we help the teachers, get them to help us.

And try to get along without any fuss.

If there is a plan before the house, you don't approve.

Get up and say so here at the school. Tell why you object, but if the rest think it good.

Take your defeat with a smile as each one should.

Come the next time with a better plan, please do!

And don't miss a meeting, for the club needs you!

—The Texas Outlook.

A GROCER'S LIFE.

Mother is trying to watch three small children and keep them out of trouble while she is phoning an order to the grocer.

"Send me a dozen fresh—Children!—and be sure they are—Babies!—don't send me any more—Stop it!—they were not good—I'll slap you if you do that again!—and you might—Get off that table!—let me have a pound of—Johnny!—and two pounds of—Tommy!—and get them here by lunch or—I'll give you a good licking in a minute!"

—Cincinnati Enquirer.

In a Quandary.

"What's Sandy Mcpherson studying about?"

"He's in a bad way. He's in the habit of letting his pipe go out and can't make sure whether he saves more on tobacco or wastes more for matches."—American Legion Weekly.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

"Children troubled with Worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion and act as a general strength-giving tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the Child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 75c per bottle."

DEVINE NEWSLETS.

From The Devine News.

Devine Boy Finishes Yale this Week.

Among the many invitations reaching this office recently is one from Yale Divinity School, one hundred and first commencement, enclosing the card of our young friend, Rev. George Edward Pentecost, a graduate of the Devine High, class 1916; since which time he has finished S. M. U. at Dallas and now the Yale University. Edward as his friends here familiarly know him, is a Devine product, at first an awkward country boy, of poor parents, but he has absolutely made good. This editor had the privilege some time since of recommending Edward to the Methodist Board of Foreign Missions. He is the first Devine man to finish Yale, is an honor to his family and to his old home town. He reads The News. The Christian people of Devine will join with us, regardless of denominational lines in praying Heaven's richest blessings upon his life work wherever the Master may choose to send him.

Turned Back at Honolulu for Home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Brown are home from San Antonio, where they went to spend several months with Mrs. C. C. Harris' children, while she and Miss Tommie Harris were gone to China. After leaving, a message from Captain McKenzie that his wife had decided to return to America. She met her mother and sister at Honolulu, Miss Tommie remained on the Island for a visit with friends and the elderly lady and daughter returned to San Francisco and to San Antonio. Mr. Brown, who with his wife have come home to Devine, said his daughter was quite willing to return to U. S. A. from Honolulu, without making the entire trip to Tein Seinn, China, where Captain and Mrs. McKenzie were located. The captain will be home later.

Mr. and Mrs. August Schott, Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Schott Jr. spent Sunday in D'Hanis.

Jim Jones was taken back to Hondo Friday as he seemed to be getting worse here and wanted to go back and Constable Stroud decided to return him. He seems to be hopelessly insane.

Neighbors Work Widows Crop in One Day.

The Black Creek and Biry farmers turned out one day the past week with nine cultivators and worked out the crop of Mrs. Adolph Eichorn, whose husband died a few days ago. This was a good deed done for a widow left with small children and a mother to care for. There are 45 acres in the crop and with a little self denial and charity they gave the good woman great help.

Battle With The Wolves For The Turkeys.

Albert Blatz bought the 130 turkeys from Mrs. Jeff Killough the first day after her ad came out last week. Blatz has started a regular turkey ranch over in the Jackoaks, the home of the turkey. The wolves are making it interesting for the turkey growers. Butler Hopson was the last to report a bunch missing. He says the coyotes have got about half of Bob Sims and Jim Heath's poultry. They are his neighbors.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarhal Deafness—that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surface of the system. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for any case of Catarhal Deafness that cannot be cured by HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE.

"Slimy Taste"

"When I feel stupid, get constipated, or bilious, I take a good dose of two of Black-Draught and it sets me straight," writes Mr. George Haislep, of R. F. D. 2, Columbia, S. C. "It cleanses the liver and I feel all right, and have not used any other medicine as I do not see the need of it. I am a guard at the State Reformatory, and have been for three or more years. When I first heard of

BLACK-DRAUGHT

Liver Medicine

and the good medicine it was, I had been having a tired feeling when I'd get up in the morning. I would be stiff and sore, and had a slimy bad taste in my mouth, but didn't think so much of it till I began to feel stupid and didn't feel like eating—then I knew I needed medicine. So was then I began Black-Draught, and I felt all made over, ready for any kind of work, ready to eat and sleep. So, for any return of this trouble, I take Black-Draught, and for 25 years it has been my medicine, and wouldn't be without it at all. My work is constant. I am on my feet all day. I am out of doors, and fresh air and Black-Draught are all the medicines I need. I recommend it to others for I know it is good."
